

Houston, TX, September 24, 2020 – Fairfield Geotechnologies announced today a contribution of $29,120 from its corporate matching gift program to the Houston Food Bank to provide hunger relief in the Houston community.

Chris Sugahara, Fairfield's CEO says, "Houston Food Bank makes a tangible difference in the lives of thousands of Houstonians every day, and what they do is more important and more urgent than ever before. As a longtime member of the Houston community, Fairfield Geo is proud to partner with them through this time, because we know that every dollar we contribute will be translated into meeting the most basic of human needs - food for those who are hungry."

"We are so grateful to our newest partner, Fairfield Geotechnologies, for their first-time donation to the Houston Food Bank", says Brian Greene, President/CEO of Houston Food Bank. "Their gift of $29,000 will help us to provide access to 87,000 meals to our community. In addition to their financial support, they have committed to ongoing volunteer opportunities with us. This is so valuable to us right now as our need for volunteers has increased as we work to respond to the enormous need of our neighbors. We greatly appreciate their commitment to helping us provide food for better lives."

Fairfield Geotechnologies is a leading provider of multi-client services in North America. Founded over 40 years ago, the Houston based company, is committed to being a strong and reliable partner in the communities where its employees live and work.
